

the head master must be either a Master or Bachelor of Arts, the school is free for reading, writing and arithmetic to all the boys of the parish. Those who learn the classics pay 20s. each per quarter. A scheme in Chancery for the future management of the school was obtained about 27 years ago; by it the head master is allowed to take 12 boarders. The school is now entirely conducted by the second master, Mr. Webb, and there are about 200 boys on the foundation. The school was formerly held in a part of the church, but a new and commodious school room was built in 1814, at the cost of about £500. The poor widows and widowers of Holbeach have £10 yearly for bread and plums, from 2A. of land, left by Adlard Squire Stukely, in 1730; and £5 for coals, left by Jacob Davey. The poor have also £5 a year in coals, the interest of £100, left by Thomas Bradley, in 1794; and £29 in bread from 5A. 1R. 17P. of land, left by J. Everson, in 1802. There is also distributed on St. Thomas' Day £112, of which £50 arises from 9A. 3R. 10P. of land, left by Richard Darby, about 1670, and the remainder from several rent-charges and plots of land, given by various donors. They have also the interest of £100 three per cents. left in 1842 by J. Morse, Esq., to be given away in blankets, &c., at Christmas; and also the interest of a like sum, left in 1858, by the late Dr. Maltby, Bishop of Durham, and sometime vicar of Holbeach. The workhouse land (3A.) is supposed to have been given to the poor by R. Davye, about 1660. E. Cope-man, Esq., of this town, has for some years past let about 8A. of land in small allotments to poor men, at moderate rents; and seeing the success and benefit attendant on this, a "Land Allotment Society" was established in 1870, for the purpose of obtaining land for the same object. They have now about 10A., let in lots of a rood each. Mr. F. G. Lemon is honorary secretary.

There are lodges of Odd Fellows and Foresters and several other Benefit Societies. The Fire Brigade consists of eight men, with three engines, of which one is in the town, one in the Marsh, and one in the Fen.

MOULTON.

MOULTON is a large and handsome village, nearly 3 miles W. of Holbeach, and 5 miles E. by N. of Spalding. It has a Station on the Bourn and Lynn branch of the Great Northern line. Its population increased from 1228 in 1801 to 2272 in 1871, and it contains 11,005 acres of land, including a long tract of fertile fen land, extending six miles southward, and an extensive range of rich marsh land, stretching six miles northward to Fosdyke Wash, and exclusive of 600 acres still covered by the tides at high water, but bearing a scanty herbage and samphire beds. The parish has many large scattered farm houses, and the hamlets of Austindyke or Asendyke, 2½ miles S.; Eaugate, 4½ miles S.; Moulton Chapel, 4 miles S.; and Seasend, 2 miles N. by E. of Moulton; the last named being on the marsh, and the others on the fens. Lord Boston is lord of the manor of Fitzwalter and a moiety of Dominorum; and E. Westwood, Esq., of the manor of Harrington and a moiety of Dominorum; the manor of Spalding extends into this parish. The chief landed proprietors are the lords of the manors, the Crown, Mrs. Johnson, Lord Say and Sele, St. John's College, Cambridge, W. C. Christie, Esq., J. P. Savage, Esq., James King, H. H. Tatam, Esq., and
